

Below is a screen shot showing Spark Action's promotion of Catholics for a Free Choice. The relevant text has been highlighted in yellow to make it easier to see. The page can be accessed online here.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL sparkaction.org/content/church-choice. The website header features the Spark Action logo and navigation menus for 'topics', 'latest', 'action center', 'features & blogs', and 'about us'. A search bar is located in the top right. The main content area is titled 'Church and Choice' and features a profile picture of Frances Kissling with the title 'WireTap Magazine' and the date 'January 2, 2007'. Below the photo are social media sharing buttons for Like, Tweet, and Share. A rating system shows 'No votes yet' and 'Your rating: None'. The article text begins with a highlighted sentence: 'Frances Kissling is the president of Catholics for a Free Choice®, an international organization that believes men and women have the right to make their own decisions about family planning and abortion.' The text continues to describe the organization's work and mentions an interview conducted by several youth journalists. On the right side of the page, there is a 'connect' section with social media icons and a 'get weekly updates' email sign-up form. Below that is a 'related articles & media' section with links to 'Lust and Desire: to Honor or Ignore?', 'Superior Being, Unsatiated', 'Culturally Challenged Love', 'Gay Pride in Jerusalem', and 'Bois2Men'.

your one-stop site for stories, news and tools for action by and for children & youth search this site:

spark action

topics ▾ latest action center features & blogs about us

Federal Budget | Early Childhood | Health | Education | After School & Youth Development | College & Work | Tech & Media | Child Welfare | Juvenile Justice | Family Finances | Service & Leadership

Church and Choice

 WireTap Magazine

January 2, 2007

Like Tweet 0 Share

kissling

No votes yet Your rating: None

Frances Kissling is the president of Catholics for a Free Choice®, an international organization that believes men and women have the right to make their own decisions about family planning and abortion. CFC operates out of Washington, D.C., and has sister organizations all over Latin America, working with the United Nations, publishing Conscience, an awareness magazine, and advocating to make condoms available to prevent the spread of AIDS. Youth journalists from Children's PressLine in New York interviewed Kissling by phone about her life as a pro-choice Catholic and how she thinks her views will make the world a better place for women. The interview was conducted by Karim Ahmed, 10; Nygel Jones, 8; Divya Sampath, 11 and Rachael Schwartz, 11.

How does it feel to be a Catholic who's pro-choice?

connect

f t g+ v +

get weekly updates

your email

related articles & media

 Lust and Desire: to Honor or Ignore?

Superior Being, Unsatiated

Culturally Challenged Love

 Gay Pride in Jerusalem

Bois2Men