

Below is screen shot showing WAGGGS' report on their delegation to the 2010 United Nations Commission on the Status of Women. We have highlighted the text showing that their UN team members included ten Girl Scouts from the United States. The page can be accessed online here.

The screenshot shows the WAGGGS website interface. At the top, there are navigation links for English, Français, and Español, along with Media Centre, Donate, Join us, Quick links, and Members' Area. The main navigation bar includes Home, About us, Our World, News, Events, Take Action, Support us, Resources, and Shop. The WAGGGS logo is visible in the top right corner.

The article title is "WAGGGS at the Commission on the Status of Women". The text states: "Six delegates are representing the World Association of Girl Guides and Girls at the 54th session of the Commission on the Status of Women: Rachel Harris (New Zealand), Elizabeth Ann Fricker (UK), Nefeli Themeli (Greece), Susanna Michele Matters (Australia), Maria José Proaño Ordóñez (Ecuador) and I-Ling Lin (Taiwan)".

The highlighted text reads: "Delegates will be supported by WAGGGS UN team members Anita Thomas, Diane Paravazian, Pat Scharlin, Mary-Jane Meconi, Francesca Socolick and 10 Girl Scouts from Connecticut and Vermont."

The article continues: "The inequality of girls and young women leads to their being disproportionately burdened by many of the issues affecting humankind. Yet we know that policies, programmes and investments made in girls have the greatest return, as girls magnify the effect throughout their communities. Despite the recognition of inequality, despite the evidence that empowering girls is good for everyone, and despite the promises and commitments made by governments over the decades, many girls remain marginalised, unvalued, exploited and at risk. Direct investment in girls is miniscule and development policies remain focused on technical, technological and economic solutions."

The final sentence states: "The WAGGGS delegation will be lobbying to change this. They will approach country delegations at the CSW and work with UN agencies, other NGOs, NGO committees and"

Additional elements on the page include a "Site search" box, a "Speak out at the United Nations" banner, and a sidebar with a table of contents for the event days (Day 1 - 28 February to Day 6 - 5th March), "Delegates profile", "WAGGGS Statement", and "What is the CSW". There are also "Print page" and "Email a friend" options.
