

Below is a screen shot showing the home page of the National Collaboration for Youth where they state that they are “among the forces behind SparkAction.org.” To help you easily see this we have circled it in red. This page can be accessed online here.

The screenshot shows the website www.colab4youth.org/Default.aspx. The header includes the National Collaboration for Youth logo and navigation links: National Assembly Home, Knowledge, Policy, About, Google Custom Search, and SEARCH. A secondary navigation bar contains HOME, NEWS, RESOURCES, PUBLIC POLICY, EVENTS, ABOUT, and JOIN.

HELPING YOUTH REACH THEIR FULL POTENTIAL

The National Collaboration for Youth (NCY), a 40-year old affinity group, is a coalition of the National Assembly member organizations that have a significant interest in youth development. Members of NCY include more than 50 national, non-profit, youth development organizations.

Its mission is to provide a united voice as advocates for youth to improve the conditions of young people in America, and to help young people reach their full potential.

Collectively, the member organizations of the National Collaboration for Youth

- Serve more than 40 million young people
- Employ over 100,000 paid staff
- Utilize more than six million volunteers
- Have a physical presence in virtually every community in America

Recent News

One in Four Families Can't Afford to Buy Food
8/22/2011
Rates of food hardship (rates of households answering "yes" over the course of a year to the question whether there were times "when you did not have enough money to buy food that you or your family needed") indicate that one in four

Resources

The Impact of Youth Development Programs On Student Academic Achievement 7/15/2011
This brief cites the importance of a full-range of developmental assets, in school, in the home and in the community, that youth need to succeed. It indicates that "meaningful progress in improving educational outcomes must involve multiple stakeholders and a variety of sustained efforts over time."

INTRODUCING SPARKACTION

SparkAction.org Launches!

We're pleased to be among the forces behind SparkAction.org, a new one-stop site with youth-related stories, news, data and high-tech tools to make your voice heard. Check it out today and see how it can help you make a difference.

JOBS

careers for good.org
powered by Search.org