

Below is a screen shot of the response to a survey on a Catholic website that showed that 57 percent of respondents were concerned enough about Girl Scout issues that they would not allow their daughters to participate in Girl Scouts. The relevant information has been circled in red to help you find it easily. The page can be accessed online here.

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying a news article on OSV Newsweekly. The article title is "Girl Scouts: At odds with Catholic teachings?". The author is Brian Fraga, dated 7/3/2011. The article discusses concerns about Girl Scouts' affiliations with pro-choice organizations. A survey poll is embedded in the article, showing the following results:

Response	Percentage
No more than her participation in any other activity or group.	21%
I'd be a little extra careful about the leadership of the local Girl Scout group	19%
My daughter would not be allowed to join. And boycott the cookies!	57%
I'm not sure.	3%

The poll results are circled in red in the original image. The article also includes a quote from Michelle Tompkins, spokeswoman for the Girl Scouts' national organization, and a section titled "Growing concern" which mentions that 57% of respondents would not allow their daughters to join Girl Scouts.